

A little four-year-old, residing a short distance from this city, was saying the Lord's Prayer a short time ago at his mother's knee, and after he had finished it his mother said, "Now, Sandy, ask God to make you a good boy." The child raised his eyes to his mother's for a few moments, as if in deep thought, and then startled her with the following reply: "It's no use, ma. He won't do it. I've asked him a heap of times."

A woman found occasion to call upon a dentist to have her teeth filled. Among those filled were two front ones, and when in a pleasant mood the lady's face shone with smiles, while polished gold glittered from the upper incisors. These were observed with admiration by her niece, who by and by seriously remarked: "Aunt Mary, I wish I had copper-toed teeth like yours."

One day a little girl about five years old, heard a preacher of a certain denominational order praying lustily, till the roof rang with the strength of the supplication. Turning to her mother, and beckoning the maternal ear down to speaking distance, she said, "Mother, don't you think if he lived nearer to God he wouldn't have to talk so loud?"

A little shaver was told by his mother the other evening at the table, that he could not have any meat, as it was not good for him, when he somewhat astonished her by quoting a verse from a Sunday school lesson "man can not live by bread alone," and added: "Now, ma, I don't think little boys can either." The juvenile had the best of that argument.

The New London gentleman who has been making frequent use of postal cards as a means of quieting a profuse correspondent of his has received the following request by letter: "please don't send me any more of those cards for this reason I like to read a letter address to me the first one 'after it leaves the riter.'"

An old lady selling eggs in Savannah, Georgia, asked, as is usual, "What's the news?" "The latest," said the obliging clerk, "is that the Yankees have got the Modocos." The old lady struck her knuckles on the counter and exclaimed: "I hope the last of 'em will die with it!"

A fond father recently wrote: "It generally takes twenty years of training to eradicate the word 'nice' from a woman's vocabulary. The falls of Niagara, the Psalms of David and the progress of the human race were all 'nice' to my eldest daughter till she got married."

There is a petty thief in Vassar College presumably a young lady student or a servant, who has, since December last, picked up unconsidered trifles of cash to the amount of about $100. Nothing but money is taken, and among the five hundred girls she has thus far escaped detection.

When a Main man has a too talkative wife he tells her he is going to Amananquatasogowongotonga hunting, and in his absence has his friends call at the house and inquire his whereabouts. When he returns the faithful wife is exhausted and doesn't want to speak for a month.

Mrs. Partington, while looking at a picture of Washington in a window, saw the name of the artist—Mr. Green—in the corner of it. After admiring it for sometime, she at length remarked, "Well, Mr. Green is not such a bad looking chap, after all?"

A lady who put on her new bathing dress at home, and stood before a glass to see how she looked in it, has changed her mind about going to sea, and thinks she will go to the mountains instead, where she can wear a swiss peasant costume.

In reply to a refusal by his parents to take a small boy to church, "because he was too small," the latter replied, "Well, you'd better take care of me now, for when I get bigger I may not want to go." The philosopher attended church that day.

(Irate parent)—"O! yer don't want to go into business, don't yer? O! yer want to be a clerk in the post-office, do yer? Post-herfice, indeed! Why, all yer're fit for is to stand outside with your tongue out, for people to set their stamps on t—Punch."

My oldest daughter, about eight, an up with earnestness and said: "Mother, have I got any children?" "Why, no. Why do you ask?" "Cause, I read in the Bible to-day, t'school, 'children's children.'"

A New Jersey man having heard that Columbus was in Ohio, immediately started out West to interview the "old man" about the voyage which resulted in the discovery of America.

A Kentucky paper, in reporting an edding, says that the bride was not particularly handsome, but the father-in-law in seven mules and the husband as satisfied.

A thirty-two months' girl thus asked her paternal relative a day or two ago: "Papa, will you buy me me holes to put in my ears, so I can have some ear-rings."

A young lady from the country called at a book store, the other day, and led for "a deck of them new postal-cards—double-headers."
